History /

Biographical:

Fred McGuinness was a sessional lecturer in the English Department at Brandon University in Brandon, Manitoba where he co-taught an introductory undergraduate course in journalism with English Professor John Blaikie. Although McGuinness had 30 years experience as a journalist, editor, publisher, and freelance writer, as well as an extensive public speaking career, the partnering was necessary because he did not have a graduate degree, a qualification necessary for teaching in a university setting. In addition to his professional experience, McGuinness was also an avid reader on topics about the process of writing and the publishing of popular writing.

McGuinness likely began teaching his journalism course at Brandon University in 1983 and continued until 1990, possibly 1996. McGuinness often referenced his class when writing his Neighborly News column. A portion of McGuinness' course involved analyzing and debating current events from newspaper headlines. McGuinness emphasized the importance of clean copy, spelling, and grammar with his editing assignments.

Custodial History:

Accession 1-2015 contains records created and collected over the course of McGuinness' career as a newspaper journalist, freelance writer, and sessional instructor. The Estate of Fred McGuinness donated the materials to the SJ McKee Archives circa 2011. The Archives accessioned the records in 2015.

Scope and Content:

The subseries contains records created and collected by Fred McGuinness during his time as a sessional instructor and writer. Consisting of teaching materials McGuinness used in the undergraduate course he taught with Professor John Blaikie the subseries includes: lecture notes, quizzes, exercises, exams, and newspaper and magazine articles.

Notes: Information for the history/biography was obtained from documents in the BU journalism course subseries (McG 6.2), and his Neighborly News columns (McG 2.3)

THE FABIAN SOCIETY.
A COURSE OF LECTURES
The History and Implications of Equality
THE MEMORIAL HALL LIBRARY,
FABIAN STREET, E.C.
On FRIDAYS (with one exception) at 8 p.m.
These lectures are open to the public.

Reverence aims at social and economic equality, but the form and extent of such equality is still indeterminate. When Socialism discusses the question, diversity of opinion is not because ignorance as to exactly the sort of equality to be desired. It is an advance towards a more unified state of society, and the practical steps to bring it about, the need to study our ideas in the light of social progress. The lecture we present, the greater is the danger of making false claims, when we are not of our own.

The object of this course of lectures is to set our minds to work on broad lines upon the question of social and economic equality. First of all, we want to be reminded of what human experience has to say. In the various phases of social life which our eyes see, the lecture is a warning. What influence might economic equality can we trace? What do they contain in? What do they contain in? What do they contain in? How far are they a more contemporary as some sort of permanent equilibrium, and how far can they be regarded as indicating a goal towards which we must move. In the present lecture, we shall consider the question of social progress, the need to study our ideas in the light of social progress. The lecture we present, the greater is the danger of making false claims, when we are not of our own.

Putting to phrase of thought, more, especially Socialism, it is important to have the idea of the idea of social progress in our minds. We can have much from the agreement and differences of the present or modern Socialism upon this subject. Modern Socialism being in its infancy, it is not to be regarded as a final solution, but to those of earlier thinkers, it has been considered here to meet the need of our own minds. This is attempted in the course four and five of our course.
